

Internet Service Providers like Sonic.net provide a level of customer service not obtainable from the big telephone companies. I have been a Sonic.net customer for 7 years and have recommended many of my friends to switch. I strongly urge you to not consider the petition filed by telephone companies as it will limit my choices and surely drive prices up. The independents do a splendid job.